

Values Cards

BRIGHT PILOTS

How to use these cards

You can use these cards as a way of prompting thoughts and discussions in meetings and workshops to do with forming up and deciding on a set of values, for a team, a product or service, or an organisation. Feel free to make these cards (and values) your own, and adapt them as you see fit.

Here are a few suggestions for how to use the cards:

- Print all sheets and cut them up along the guidelines to make a deck that you can browse and sort through
- Lay out all 50 cards on a table, and ask your group to work together and select 10 values that are most resonant and relevant for them. Then, ask them to select their top 5. This should generate a useful conversation about what is collectively most important.
- Ask each person in a group to select their top 5, but then re-word them to be more specific to them / their team / the organisation.
